

Master of Business Administration

At Northeastern University's D'Amore-McKim School of Business, we prepare students to be responsible global business leaders who thrive in a digital world. In our MBA programs (<https://damore-mckim.northeastern.edu/catalog-mba-programs/>), students learn across borders and get ready to make a real impact. They develop in-demand skills by working on projects with actual company data, guided by a faculty of consultants, management leaders, and startup founders. This hands-on approach helps them become innovative leaders.

At D'Amore-McKim, we excel at integrating classroom instruction with real-world, experience-powered learning. This approach broadens students' knowledge, fosters their creativity, and equips them to meet the evolving demands of today's business landscape. Our MBA students dive into experiences that provide fresh perspectives and valuable skills.
