

Applied User Experience Design, Graduate Certificate (Online)

The Graduate Certificate in Applied User Experience Design offers students an expansive, real-world introduction to the fundamental principles and protocols, practical tools, and creative approaches that underlie expertise in design thinking. Through intensive, practice-oriented learning, students have an opportunity to conceptualize, implement, and iterate design solutions for digital experiences and applications.

Program Requirements

Complete all courses and requirements listed below unless otherwise indicated.

Required Courses

Code	Title	Hours
DGM 6255	Usability and Human Interaction	3
DGM 6600	Information Design for Digital Media	3
Complete 6 semester hours from the following:		6
DGM 6610	Prototyping and Usability Testing
DGM 6620	Research Methods for Global User Experiences
DGM 6630	Multimodal Information Design
DGM 6640	Accessibility and Information Architecture

PROGRAM CREDIT/GPA REQUIREMENTS

12 total semester hours required

Minimum 3.000 GPA required